

Note:

This busy bag is a great way to introduce written numbers, and lets your little one practice their counting while working on their fine motor skills.

Instructions:

Print and laminate the cards with the zoo and farm animals. Print then cut the 'tracing number' cards in half, and laminate those too. Grab a whole bunch of clothes pegs and an erasable marker (any white board marker) and ask your child to count how many animals they can see at the zoo or the farm. Let them clip one peg to the side of the card for each animal they count, and then have them find and trace the correct number.

What fun!
